Government bail out? Government bail out? We don't need any government bail out! We are a part of the Network Marketing industry. My network marketing business has the capability of far exceeding any government bail out program that could ever be concocted, for the financial well being of me and my family and it is totally in my control. This is the message that I am hearing from serious networkers over and over again. I have been giving financial freedom a lot of thought and I have pondered how I can be a part of the solution. I thought of all of the great networkers and leaders that I know, and the 200 great contributors that share their wisdom in TheNetworkMarketingMagazine.com.

I know during economic down turns that network marketing always flourishes. I also know that those that engage and get into action tend to succeed and can succeed in a very big way.

I remember hearing that in the 1930's, during the great Depression, more millionaires were created than any single time in history. I'm not making a comment of what stage in the economy the world is in today, I'm just realizing that if that many millionaires could be created during an era that didn't have the network marketing opportunity, how many people could at least support their families at a level that would create comfort and dignity to families that engage in their own network marketing business.

Napoleon Hill wrote in his classic Think and Grow Rich, about the power of Master Mind Groups. I have met many great network marketing leaders in many companies. If you are fortunate to have one of these leaders as your upline or mentors, count yourself fortunate. It is so critical to learn from people who have already done it and succeeded. It is better and faster for your success to follow and learn from people who know rather that taking a stab at it with little or no knowledge of how to build a growing and sustainable business on your own.

In 4 years of running TheNetworkMarketingMagazine.com, I have observed most of the networkers I come across are what I would refer to as orphans. These networkers are not fortunate enough to have a successful upline that can tuck them under their wing and help them succeed in building a great business. These orphans need to find someone who can help. Over the last 4 years, I have watched networkers be tucked under the wing of some great contributors of the magazine, 200 people who have touched the lives of many people. We are especially fortunate to have 30 or 40 of these contributors as core teachers that have been the back bone of our faculty. I started to explore the thought, what if we brought together the coaches, authors, trainers and great leaders and formed a mastermind group like Napoleon Hill talked about. How would that affect the networker who really wanted to make his or her business really work? What would happen if we turned TheNetworkmarketingMagazine.com into the largest network marketing community in the world?
