Belief and a Dream

Don't underestimate the power of your belief and how it can lead to the life of your dreams!

A BELIEF is simply a thought you think over and over again. In fact, it becomes a habit. And like all habits... it can either serve you or work against you.

It's important to understand that the reason our belief's have so much power is because our mind works like a computer. It doesn't know the difference between what is “real” and what is not. It just accepts the information that you program in over and over again. Your imagination creates and your imagination can destroy.

In other words, when things aren't going exactly the way you would like them to it's usually because you've created a story in your mind, one that you're at least starting to believe (regardless of the factual truth) , that is taking power away from what you say you want That power is draining from you through the bad feelings created by your thoughts.

Although the story you have spun in your head may not be based on “reality”, your feelings are real and it's your feelings that determine what you attract. It's a critical point to be aware of because when faced with a set of circumstances, your personal human computer starts creating scenarios to explain them. And then your body responds to your brain's interpretation.

When it comes to building a network marketing business we are confronted with a wide variety of circumstances... leaving us to make deductions that will send us in one direction or another based on our feelings about them.

How you feel about a set of circumstances based on what you say and believe about them can drastically alter your life's course... not to mention the course of your business.

Let's look at an example:

Possible circumstances:

1. You have two new customers in a week.
2. One just had a bad reaction to the first product they ordered and the other had a bad experience with an incomplete order.

Possible interpretations:

1. These products are a joke
2. The company can't be trusted to get it right
3. No one is going to trust me again
4. These customers could have used more information
5. The incomplete order might have simply been out of stock
6. These things happen but rarely

Can you see that if you choose one of the first three interpretations that you may be turned off about a career in network marketing? You might decide that it's too risky, too embarrassing, and something to be avoided. You could also be cutting off any opportunity to provide a fabulous experience for someone else and building a strong business for yourself in the process.

If you choose one or more of the last three interpretations you may still BELIEVE there is some hope for you, your business and possibly even these two customers by simply learning more about your product and how the company works. You could still feel great about the company and the industry as a profession and create many reasons to continue on to pursue your dream with the business.

The circumstances didn't change... but your interpretation of them will dictate what you believe which will dictate how you FEEL which will dictate what actions you take, leading you down a completely different path. That's powerful!

So please consider making a decision to interpret things in way that make you feel really good about your products, your company and the industry and your potential to build a large passive income. Your good feelings will guide you to the opportunities and the people that will help you see those dreams come true.

EXPECT MIRACLES!

The best thing about network marketing for me is that it asks... even encourages... me to seek out people who are willing to explore and share their dreams and vision. It gives me reason to invite people to share— from their heart— early in our relationship.

I love this because sharing dreams and clarifying vision puts us together in an energy that feels so good— so alive. It opens us up to take inspired action, which consistently results in greater and greater levels of success. What a joy sharing this kind of ride with others!

"What I admire most about Mary K. is that she literally and figuratively incarnates one of my most treasured quotes: Dag Hammerskjöld's "To all that has been— Thanks. To all that will be— Yes!" She speaks about the joy of sharing this 'ride' with others. Mary K. IS the joy— to know and to work with."
