Do You Ever Feel Like Quitting? This Video Kept Me In The Game

I can honestly say, that if not for the video below, I would not have made it.

Honestly, when I started in the industry over 30 years ago, I wanted to quit almost every day. I had absolutely none of the skill sets and mindsets it takes to develop a network marketing team. All I had was persistence and credibility from the stand point that people could depend on me to do what I said I was going to do, and support them and tell them the truth. Remember I was 20 years old, so how much credibility can a twenty year old really have, but I was blessed with an extra dose of determination and I just knew that if other people with average intelligence had built a team, then I could.

> The truth is, most business models can be learned by average people if they want it bad enough. It doesn't take God given talents or above average intelligence to become a successful entrepreneur it just takes the willingness to learn and take action.

With that said, I still wanted to quit every day when I started. However, unlike today when we are surrounded by multiple opportunities in various niches, I DIDN'T HAVE A CHOICE, IT WAS EITHER MAKE IT

NETWORK MARKETING or spend the rest of my life building someone else's dream.

I can honestly say, that if not for the video below, I would not have made it. I had this on audio cassette and if I listened to it once, I listened to it 1,000 times. The message is powerful and I hope you enjoy it.

I am the first to admit that network marketing is not for everyone. However, I do believe that every individual has within them seeds of greatness. I believe there is a perfect plan for our life and for most of us we are not suppose to be spending our life building someone else's dream, we should be building our own. Living a life of mediocrity is not why we are here!

So my hope is that if you have found your calling in life, that you will put you hand to the pump and DON'T STOP!
