I particularly like this topic, as I believe this is the foundation of true leadership. In a self-centered world, servant leadership is very refreshing. It's the way of life for the entrepreneur if he or she wants a team that is not just good, but great, on that makes a true impact on peoples lives. I see servant leadership as the art of helping and serving others with pure intentions and motives. I suggest you put aside self-serving behaviors in favor of serving others for lasting success in building a lasting organization that can be passed to the next generation and beyond.

Servant leaders sees potential in everyone, they remind themselves they are blessed because providence has played an integral part of their success.

Success, power, and influence should not be used as leverage to diminish a person or used to lord over a new recruit to gain control of their lives. Instead, that leader shows compassion as he feels and understands the pain someone else goes through and helps to see their need. Understand that people actually forget what you say, but they won't forget how you make them feel.

Many see the individual at the top of the proverbial pyramid as the boss, the commander over them and extremely hard to reach or become acquainted with. They don't ever expect them to get in the trenches to show the way to build a lasting network business along side through servant leadership. The servant leader at the top turns the pyramid upside down as they put others needs before their own in helping others develop and perform result producing activities. You have God given gifts and talents that can be used in helping and assisting others in whatever enterprise you have available for them. The servant leader does not see his or herself as greater or better than any one else. They see themselves as a child of God, placed on this earth to grow to their true potential by serving others. They step out of the spotlight handing it to others lifting them up as it also encourages them to greatness through servant hood. The servant leader remains humble in their climb towards success, which will only come completely to the one who chooses to serve.

Jesus said to be great in the Kingdom of God you must be the servant of all, the last shall be first in God's kingdom.

Don't you think we should all apply this wisdom and knowledge? We will only climb as high as we lift others.

"I grew up on Long Island NY; I met my wife Cindy in High School, we dated for several years and I went off to college for two years studying Construction Technology while we maintained our relationship.

I enjoyed self-employment but discovered the business owned me.

A friend introduced me to MLM. I fell in love with the concept of duplicating and multiplying my efforts through other people.

I quickly learned how to develop a team who could help us build a second income stream part time.

Cindy and I were fortunate to have been able to achieve enough success to be placed on the speaking circuit at a very young age. During the next two years we grew and learned the basic fundamentals of building a network

We have traveled across the USA training other entrepreneurs how to build a solid income part time. We have been and continue to train globally in Canada, Australia, United Kingdom, Singapore, and Taiwan. We also have businesses in Spain, Hong Kong, and soon Malaysia; we will plan on trips to those countries. This is a designer lifestyle, I have helped many others reach their goals through it, and will continue to do so. We have truly been blessed and thank God for our success."
